A Little Girl Carried off by a Bear. [From the Mason County (Mich.) Record.] We have to record a very singular deliverance of a girl about three years old, to her parrents, after being carried off by a black bear, and a search of 36 hours through the forest by the excited parents.-The facts as near as we can gather them, are substantially as follows: Mr. Henry Flynn lives 40 miles east of this place, at or near the logging camps of Mr. Ludington, and we believe has charge of one of the camps. He started one morning to take a horse to pasture, about two miles distant from the house, and as he was ready to start his little girl appeared and seemed very anxious to go with her father, who, in order to please the child, put her upon the horse's back and let her ride a short distance, perhaps 40 rods from the house, where he put her down and told her to run home. He noticed that the child was standing where he had left her, and on looking back after going a little further saw her playing in the sand. He soon passed out of sight, and was gone about an hour, expecting of course that the child would return to the house after playing a few moments. On returning home he made inquiry about the child of her mother, who said she had not seen the child, and supposed he had taken her along with him. On going to the spot where he had left her, he saw huge bear tracks in the sand, and at once came to the conclusion that the child had been carried off by the bear.

The family immediately gave search through the forest, which was grown up to almost a jungle, rendering their search very slow. All day these anxious parents searched for some trace of their child, nor did they stop when darkness came on, but remained in the woods, calling the child by her name, and with aching hearts would listen with an almost breathless fear to catch some sound by which they could discover their lost darling. Morning came and their search was fruitless.

A young gentleman, looking for land, came to the house, and, being informed of the circumstances, immediately set out to help to find the child. They had wandered about, and as they were passing a swampy spot, where the undergrowth was very thick, they either called the child, or else were talking loud, when one of them heard the child's voice, He then called the child by name, and told her to come out of the bushes. She replied that the bear would not let her. The men then crept through the bush, and when near the spot where the child and the bear were, they heard a splash in the water, which the child said was the bear. On going to her they found her standing upon a log, extending about half way across the river. The bear had undertaken to cross the river on the log, and, being closely pursued, left the child and swam away, She had received some scratches about her face, arms and legs, and her clothes were almost torn from her, but the bear had not bitten her, only the marks of his teeth being found on her back, where, in THE PUBLIC. taking hold of her clothes to carry her, he had taken the flesh also.

The little one says the bear would put her down occasionally to rest, and would put his nose up to her face, when she would slap him, and then the bear would hang his head by her side and purr and rub against her like a cat. The men asked her if she was cold in the night, and she told them the old bear lay down beside her and put his "arms" around her and kept her warm, though she did not like his long hair. She was taken home to her parents, who could hardly express their joy at her safety. The bear has been seen lurking about in the vicinity, it is supposed for the purpose of yet carrying off the child. The supposition is that it is a female bear, and having lost her cubs, came across the child and adopted it. Steps are being taken to capture the bear. BRIGHAM Young has pronounced a funeral oration over the remains of Heber C. Kimball which was quite as significant in its way as Maro Antony's remarks over the corpse of Cæsar. It was a matter of great joy to Brigham that while his predecessor (Brother Joseph) had lost three of his council by apostacy he had never been under the necessity of mourning and lamenting over the apostacy of any one of his councillors, and, added Brigham, "I hope I never shall." This hope was supplemented by a faith, significant, if not sublime, in the further declaration, "I had rather bury them by the score than see one of them apostatize." This hint at a possible funeral in the event of apostacy will not be lost upon Brigham's brethren.—New York World.

This distressing affection, which renders life miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of impropriety .-Young persons are too apt to commit ex-cesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The System becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritabili-ty, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indi-gestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prespects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contem-MARRIAGE, effect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial hap-piness. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with your own. DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE. When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those, who from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appropriate the constitutional symptoms of the sense o pearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs. dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shinbones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commissera-tion, till death puts a period to his dreadful suf ferings, by sending him to "that Undiscovered Country from whence no traveller returns."

It is a MELANCHOLY FACT that thou sands fall victims to this terrible disease, owing to the unskilfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that DEADLY POISON, MF R-CURY, ruin the constitution and make the residue of life miserable.
